

Past Boards

The St. Thomas Journal of Complex Litigation is only the second law journal focusing exclusively on complex litigation. The Journal focuses on a number of complex litigation topics, including mass torts, class actions, multi-district litigations, electronic discovery, and civil procedure issues. The Editorial Board's have a mission to publish relevant and thought-provoking articles to ensure the Journal is known as a leading resource for legal practitioners and judges alike who frequently practice in this area of the law.